Matthews is 23 and he is a newly qualified teacher at Chikowa Primary School in Zambia. Teaching for him is more than just a job; it's a calling. This is the very same school where Matthews attended as a child and where he ate Mary's Meals each day. His younger siblings still attend the same school, encouraged by their older brother. Matthews remembers a time before the arrival of Mary's Meals. "It was so difficult. I would go home after morning sessions because I was too hungry to stay. But then when I got porridge, I could stay for afternoon sessions and that meant I could learn faster." The arrival of Mary's Meals changed things overnight for Matthews. Now he can provide for his parents as well as his younger siblings because he was able to complete his education and get a good job. Thanks to the support of incredible people like you, Matthews has been given a chance. We know there are millions more children who are waiting for Mary's Meals at school. I hope that you'll consider making a donation today to change their future tomorrow. marysmeals.org.uk
